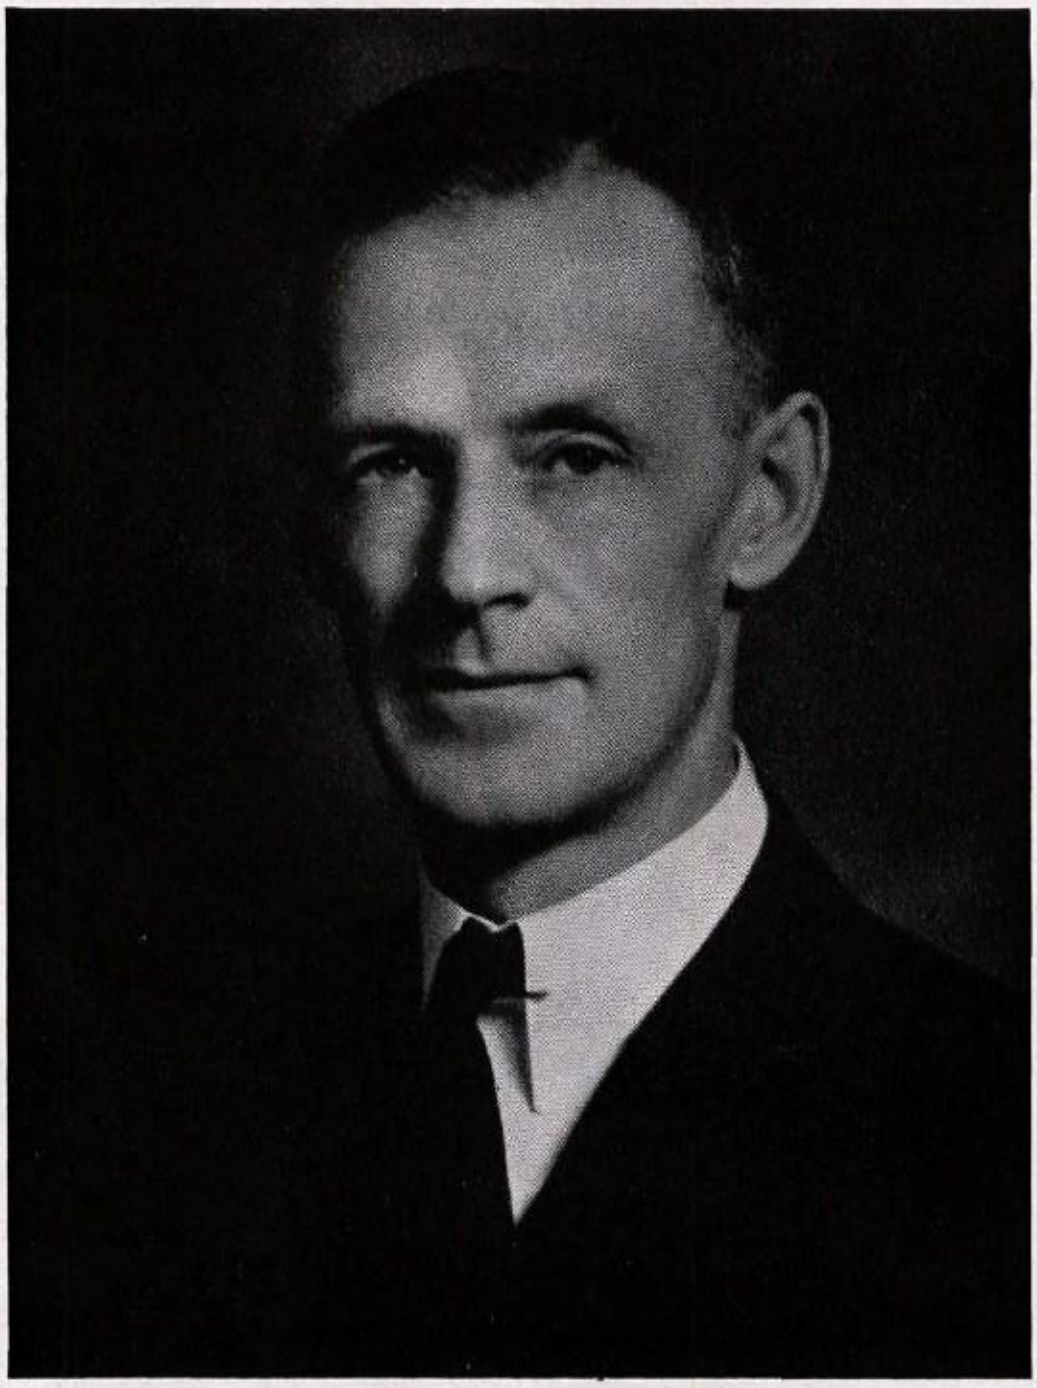
Always
Kathleen



Because, in the two years you have been with us, you have given careful consideration to the graduate, sympathetic understanding to the veteran and his problems, and intelligent leadership to the school, we, the Acorn Staff, dedicate this 1947 Annual to our friend and principal,

Mr. E. B. Broadwater

Best of Luck
to a swell guy. Hope
to see you next year
in Home Room 114
and of course the teacher
has to be Miss Penn.
Good Luck.
Jimmy.

ANNUAL PUBLICATION OF

The Student Body

JEFFERSON SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

ROANOKE, VIRGINIA

Foreword

" 'Hear now my song of love, melody immortal,'
Virginia, Virginia!

Land of the gauntlet and the glove,
Virginia, Virginia!
Horseback land of sash and plume,
Where they rode to wisdom, wonder and doom,
Virginia, Virginia!

• • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • • •

'Hear now my song of love, melody immortal'."

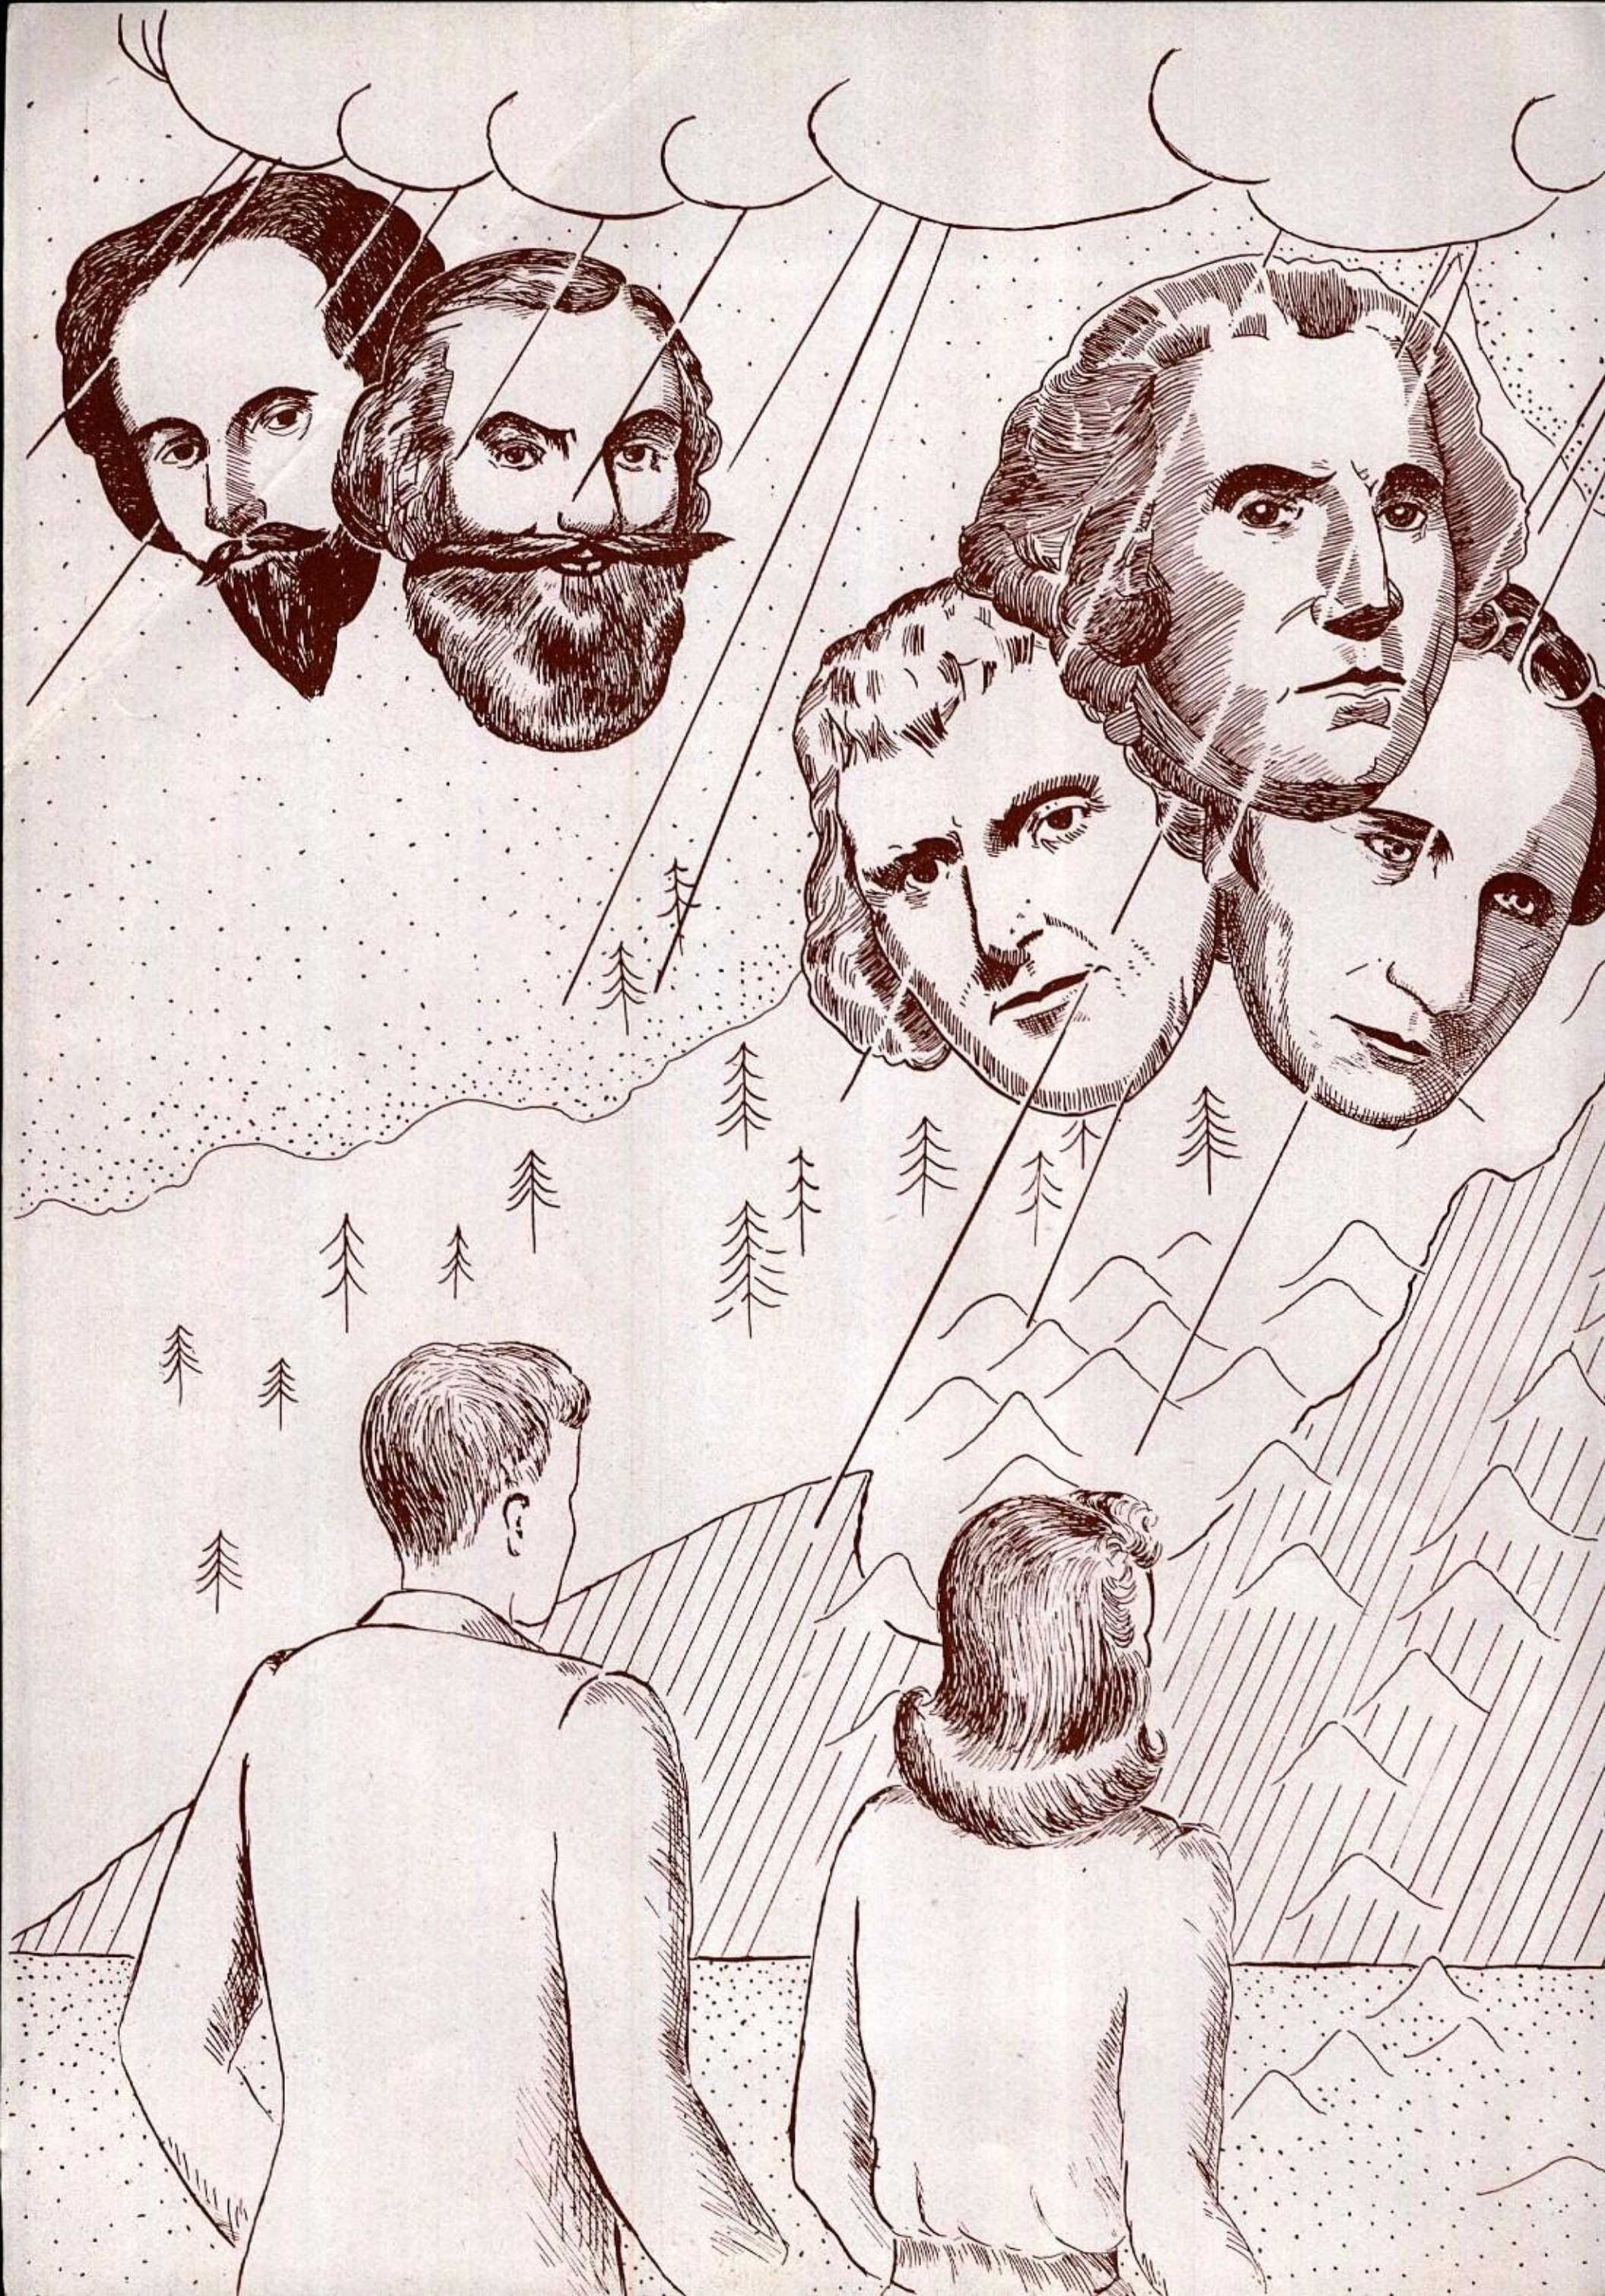
The cornerstone of our great nation is the state we proudly call our home. But we Virginians are not the only ones who have sung for it a song of love.

Long ago, there was an Englishman who dreamed a dream of America, and then another who helped translate it into reality. Although Raleigh and Smith were born in England, they were real Virginians.

Then, in the years of the forming of our nation, "The Great Generation" came almost entirely from our state. Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, and Henry gave us a new title—that of Americans. Later, there were Poe, Jackson, and Lee.

Already in this twentieth century, such men as Wilson, Darden and Admiral Byrd have lifted their voices.

Perhaps even now the song of Virginia is swelling in the heart and mind of someone here at Jefferson who will find expression for it in the years ahead!



"And that ancient University
Founded by wild Jefferson,
The place where young Poe learned to sing—
Virginia's University!
Remembering the wandering walls,
The proud pillars, the strange halls,
Of that old University—
The brain of old Virginia!"

After we have left high school, we shall long remember its own individual variety of "wandering walls, proud pillars, strange halls," and be glad at the thought of the many happy hours spent with them.

Best of Luck
Always
Richard

Nothing is more appropriately named at Jefferson than the Activities Office. Here, most frequently, too many activities go on simultaneously. For your patience and understanding, I, as director of this office, thank both the students and faculty.

As Assistant Principal, I join our Principal, Mr. E. B. Broadwater, in wishing the seniors of the nineteen forty-seven class the fine rewards that their efforts deserve.

Cordially yours,

"They went northwest to the tall woods,
And to Kootenai,
On to the Going-to-the-sun;
To the mountains called Olympia,
To the river called Columbia,
To dew and mist and roses.
And they were proud and high."

When the Western pioneers reached the last summit overlooking the Pacific, they realized they had gone as far as was possible on this continent. Before them lay a vast, unexplored ocean.

Likewise, when the student at Jefferson has completed his senior year, he has advanced as far as Jefferson can take him. Just as those early travelers desired to settle down and enjoy the fulfillment of their long quest, so many Jeffites, after graduation, will be eager to begin using the scholastic knowledge they have gained.

However, as also many pioneers retained their exploring fever and set out to conquer the ocean as they had conquered the continent, so many Jefferson students will continue their exploration of knowledge by going on to college.

Nevertheless, whatever be their course, Jefferson has fulfilled its mission. The rest is up to the students.

"They took their axes and their Bibles,
They took their guns, they took their fiddles,
Dancing the old Virginia Reel,
They went West to the new blue grass,
When it was still Virginia."

The Pioneers who started the Westward Movement had adventurous blood in their veins, for their forebears had left their homes to settle this new land.

Life on the east coast was not always easy. Therefore, they were somewhat prepared for their quest, although they didn't understand its full meaning.

As the Virginia pioneers gathered up their instruments of work and play before setting out, so the Sophomores bring what knowledge they already have gained from years in school, along with their boundless enthusiasm, to high school.

"Hear now my song . . ."

"Remembering daguerreotypes, tin-
types, books, and photographs
That once came from Virginia—
And thinking deeply all the while
Of the growing dimness of that land, ..."

Just as Jackson and many other Virginians posed for daguerreotypes to serve as a record for future years, so one of our pleasant school activities is having our class pictures made for the annual. And as the pioneers looked at their pictures and recalled the past, so we can look at ours in the years to come and remember this and the many other activities in which we engaged.

Ten years of presenting news, sports articles, editorials, feature columns and stories have been rounded out by the Jefferson News, a bi-weekly newspaper that plays an important role in life at Jefferson. The anniversary issue was published at the opening of school, in addition to the regular 18, and distributed free of charge. The News, constantly in touch with school papers all over the country, receives the expert criticism of recognized professional newspaper men and women by virtue of being a member of several school press associations, and has been highly commended.

The 36 members of the editorial staff are enrolled in the Journalism B classes which carry a unit credit.

Student Government

Like all good Virginians, the students are proud of their democratic form of government. Our organization, Student Participation in Government, is a training for future leaders in the state's and nation's governments.

This year Student Government has had many and varied activities. In the first semester it was in charge of the Orientation Program for new students, the class elections, courtesy and citizenship drives, and many other such activities. The Christmas Dance, with the election of the Snow Queen, was one of the highlights of the social year.

Louise Wright, Joanne Friend, Barbara Moses, Jim Charlton, Bill Thornton and Miss Moore, advisor, attended the S. A. S. G. Convention in St. Petersburg, Florida.

Martha Washington Literary Society

The Martha Washington Literary Society is the oldest club of its kind at Jefferson and it has as its aim the literary and social development of all members.

Programs for the year have offered a variety of music, poetry and prose; several tours have been made and inspirational talks were given by faculty members.

The following officers led the Club: Georgia Abbott, President; Jackie Fisher, Vice President; Kitty Hale, Secretary; Elizabeth Terry, Treasurer; Miss Mary DeLong, Advisor.

Roanoke Distributors' Club

The purpose of the Club is to promote the interest and advancement of members in the retailing profession and to provide social activities for the group.

The officers are as follows: Charles Hutton, President; Marie Willis, Vice President; Jane Waid, Secretary; Donald Hagy, Treasurer.

CHRISTMAS BASKET DELIVERY

The Hi-Y, Jefferson's oldest club, is still one of the most popular, as is shown by its membership which now totals over seventy—a new record.

It carries out its purpose of living by the higher ideals of life through its program of inspiring talks presented by various members of the community.

The Hi-Y distributed books at mid-term, sold drinks for all the home basketball games and the dances, and at Christmas time delivered baskets to the underprivileged families.

On the social side, the Hi-Y has had an outing, Father-Son Banquet, and a Favorite Teacher Banquet.

Latin Students' Page

True to its pledge the Junior Classical League of Jefferson is trying to pass on the torch of classical learning in this modern world. Two of its important projects toward this end are the Latin Tournament and the publication of the Roanoke Roman, a Latin-English newspaper.

In the Latin Tournament of 1946, Jefferson made the highest average in the state and won the plaque. Two representatives, John Roberson, third year, and Mary Lou Burnett, fourth year, won highest individual ratings for their respective years. Mary Lou Burnett was awarded a scholarship to Randolph-Macon Woman's College.

The Roanoke Roman was entered in the C. S. P. A. Contest, Columbia University, and was awarded Medalist Rating.

The annual Christmas party was given in the library, December 16th.

Bible Department

This school year, the Bible Department, headed by Miss Mary DeLong, consisted of four classes.

In addition to interesting class discussions of Scriptures, all students are required to read and submit three written and oral parallels concerning Biblical subjects. There are requirements in Bible, as in any other class, such as memory passages that must be recited by each student.

This Department helps the student understand the puzzling problems in the Bible and also to develop and cultivate interest in the reading of the Scriptures.

As an outstanding activity of the Fleur-de-Lys this year let us mention the sending of packages to Christine Le Long, the French war orphan adopted by the Club last year. Other activities engaged in were correspondance with students in France, informative talks, the annual Christmas party, and the publication of the French paper, L'Echo.

The sponsor and advisor of above activities, Madame Henriette Fallwell, was one of the hundred French teachers invited by the government to tour France during the summer of '46.

The Virginians defended their way of life with great vigor and spirit. Today, in a more fortunate time, that vigor has been transformed from pugnacity on the battlefield to combativeness on the fields of sport.

Last fall, the band started into full swing with the opening of school. Attending all home football games as well as one in Danville, the band supplied the familiar "Tiger Rag," and many other spirit-boosting numbers.

In addition to the football games last season, the band participated in three parades, including the pre-game parades for the games with Lynchburg and Bluefield. The band also led the Christmas parade on December 3rd.

Seven members of the band attended the sixth annual All-State band on February 7th, 8th and 9th, in Norfolk. This group consisted of Norma Townsend, Don Black, Juanita McDaniel, Tommy Hilton, Dale Harrison, Paul Bernard, and Warren Kinney.

Football

Seeming to thrive on deadlocks, the 1946 Magicians participated in four such contests while winning from Fleming and John Marshall. The Jeffs bowed to Tee Jay, invincible Granby, Maury and Glass.

Standouts were McLelland, end, and T. Martin, guard, who were named to the All-City-County team. T. Martin was also chosen as Jefferson's outstanding performer. D. Booth, a scat back, made the City-County second team. Dangerfield was a pile-driver at right, with Captain C. Williams at left half shining defensively. Co-Captain P. Martin and Hildebrand, center, were bulwarks in the forward wall, while Isbell supplied exceptional punting.

Although not showing up very well, the '46-'47 Jefferson cage team spor some fine ball players. Back from last year's team, which lost the state crown one point, were Louis McLelland, Charlie Williams and Carl Campbell. Aid these boys this year was Guard Ernie Akers, star defensive player, returned fr service. Jack Parry, another vet, and Reginald Hutcherson shared the pivot resp sibilities with Norwood Redford occasionally lending a hand.

Our basketball team provided us with some exciting moments, despite its failure to come across in the end for a win. Remember, when in the final seconds of the Andrew Lewis game, we were trailing by a slim margin, there was a sudden break for the basket and a final long shot, ending in a mere one point loss?

Pictured below are some members of our baseball and tennis teams, and the tumbling team which performed at the football games.

Girls' Monogram Club

The Girls' Monogram Club participates in quite a variety of sports. The girls play basketball, badminton and ping-pong in the winter; tennis and horseshoes following in the spring. Bowling and volleyball go on all year.

A girl must make a hundred points to become a member of the club. Points are acquired by participation in the sports, attending practice, and scholarship. A small monogram is gotten when 300 points are obtained, 500 points net a numeral, and 800 gets the grand award, the large monogram.

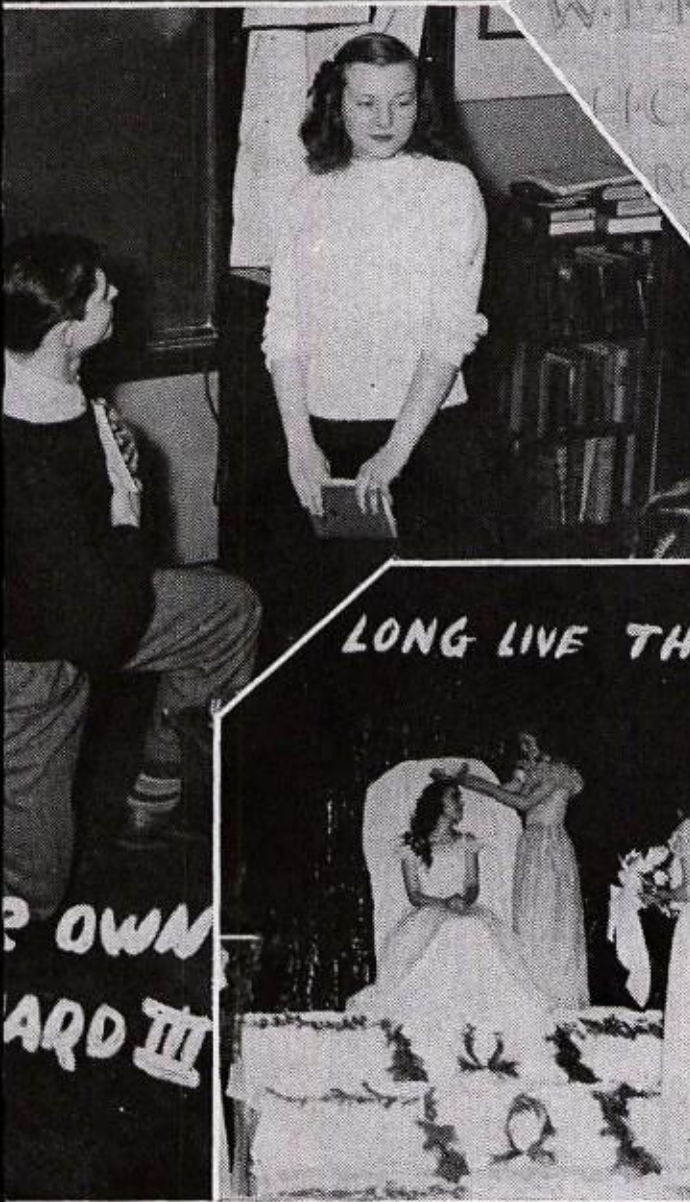
"They took their glories and their shames,
They took their trifles and their rags,
They took their sects and tribes and names,
They took their cloaks and moneybags;
They went west to the silver mines."

After the pioneers had crossed the first ranges of mountains, and started across the plains of the Middle West, they found that they could conquer the difficulties they met more easily, for they had gained experience in this new life of being always on the move.

They kept on going.

The Juniors, too, have learned a great deal about life at Jefferson, and are advancing steadily onward.

"And they were proud . . ."



Dear Bill.

Back of everything always and lots and lots of good. See you next year.

"Ross" Stabbs
